Ural 750cc Voyage

Attempts are being made by UralMoto to modernise their motorcycles. Much seems to be related to styling features. Sadly many western riders with the cash to buy leisure motorcycles prefer the traditional or retro styled machines, not machines that look to be a factory attempt at recreating a 1970s American chopper. We can only hope that the parts for the older machines will still be made available to keep the millions of older Urals on the road.
